BOSTON, OCTOBER 18.

"Meſſieurs PRINTERS,

A MERCHANT of this town informed a friend of mine, that ſome days ago he had an order by water from his correſpondent in Philadelphia, to buy and ſend him a number of cheſts of tea, on arrival of the East-India cargo; but, that by the laſt poſt, he had a countermand of ſaid order, with inſtructions to make the beſt he could of any tea he might have purchaſed in conſequence of it, as it would inevitably be deſtroyed if an ounce of it was known to be brought into that city.

"A notable evidence this is of the ſpirit of our Philadelphia brethren; and you may venture to aſſure them, Meſſieurs Printers, that they will find no Importer's Factors, or any other ſelf intereſted wretches here at this day, hardy enough to make a new experiment on the temper of the people. X Y."

It is ſaid that the mercantile ſpirit which ſo notably diſtinguiſhed the father, bids fair to eternize the names of his Excellency's two children, their known principles having incited the East-India Company to pitch upon them as conſignees of the axes and ſculping knives ſhipping by them for the port of Boſton.

It is the current talk of the town, that Richard Clarke, Benjamin Faneuil, Eſqrs; and the two young Meſſieurs Hutchinſons, are appointed to receive the Teas allowed to be exported for this place. This new ſcheme of adminiſtration, lately ſaid to be ſo friendly to the colonies, is at once ſo threatening to the trade, and ſo well calculated to eſtabliſh and increaſe the deteſted TRIBUTE, that an attempt to meddle with this pernicious thing, would render men much more reſpected than they are, as obnoxious as were the Commiſſioners of the —— in 1765.

Should the tea now ſhipping for Boſton be returned to England, as it undoubtedly will, if the people do not ſhrink in copying the reſolutions of Philadelphia and New-York to deſtroy it; Lord North will meet with a rebuff, which will put his utmoſt firmneſs to the trial. It will be impoſſible for his Lordſhip after having exerted all his cunning in flattering the East-India Company, to withſtand their peremptory demand of a total repeal of the Tea Act.

A correſpondent has hinted, that it would be highly improper to return thoſe great cargoes of tea that are expected, without ſending the important gentlemen whoſe exiſtence depends on it along with it, to give the Premier the reaſons of ſuch conduct.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Barbados, to his friend in this town, dated September 21, 1773.

"The legiſlature of this iſland have this day diſpatched a law for his Majeſty's confirmation, to make Barbados a free port; the ſtaple commodities of the iſland only excepted."

BALTIMORE, OCTOBER 19.

A few days ago arrived the ſhip Prince of Wales, Captain Morriſon, from Londonderry, with about 200 paſſengers, which make no leſs than 3500 that have left that port only within one year, and come to ſeek in our back extenſive and happy territory, peaceable and comfortable reſidence, which thoſe loyal and induſtrious people could not enjoy in their native land, from the ill judged oppreſſion exerciſed over that ſinking country by Great-Britain.—Let the deplorable ſtate of that once proſperous land fill Americans with apprehenſions, and rouze them with animated warmth, to reſiſt every attempt of Parliamentary tyranny, under what ſpecious or plauſible pretext or diſguiſe ſoever it may be offered—for, the ſmalleſt reſtriction of our liberty admitted, ALL WILL BE LOST.

PHILADELPHIA, OCTOBER 20

So averſe are the inhabitants of this province to the unwarrantable claim of Parliament to tax America; and ſo determined to oppoſe every attempt to rob and enſlave her, that on the firſt notice that the Miniſtry had made a cat's paw of the East-India Company, by perſuading them to ſend their teas to this country, and to pay the duties to which ſuch teas are ſubject on landing here; and ſo to eſtabliſh for Parliament a precedent to introduce duties of more conſequence, it was determined to diſcountenance, by all lawful ways and means, the LANDING of the dutied article.

But in order to teſtify to our brethren in America, the firmneſs and unanimity of the Pennſylvanians on the preſent occaſion, and to prevent weak or evil-minded perſons, from aiding or abetting the introduction of the miniſterial TEA, a very conſiderable meeting was held at the State-Houſe on Saturday laſt, and the following reſolutions entered into.

1. THAT the diſpoſal of their own property is the inherent right of freemen; that there can be no property in that which another can, of right, take from us without our conſent; that the claim of Parliament to tax America is, in other words, a claim of right to levy contributions on us at pleaſure.

2. That the duty impoſed by Parliament upon tea landed in America, is a tax on the Americans, or levying contributions on them without their conſent.

3. That the expreſs purpoſe for which the tax is levied on the Americans, namely, for the ſupport of government, adminiſtration of juſtice, and defence of his Majeſty's dominions in America, has a direct tendency to render aſſemblies uſeleſs, and to introduce arbitrary government and ſlavery.

4. That a virtuous and ſteady oppoſition to this miniſterial plan of governing America, is abſolutely neceſſary, to preſerve even the ſhadow of liberty, and is a duty which every freeman in America owes to his country, to himſelf, and to his poſterity.

5. That the reſolution lately entered into by the East-India Company to ſend out their Tea to America, ſubject to the payment of duties on its being landed here, is an open attempt to enforce this miniſterial plan, and a violent attack upon the liberties of America.

6. That it is the duty of every American to oppoſe this attempt.

7. That whoever ſhall, directly or indirectly, countenance this attempt, or in any wiſe aid or abet in unloading, receiving or vending the Tea ſent, or to be ſent out by the East-India

Company, while it remains subject to the payment of a duty here, is an enemy to his country.

3. That a committee be immediately chosen to wait on those gentlemen, who, it is reported, are appointed by the East-India Company to receive and sell said tea, and request them, from a regard to their own characters and the peace and good order of the city and province, immediately to resign their appointment.

NEW-YORK, OCTOBER 21.

Last Friday morning was distributed about town, a printed advertisement, proposing, at 12 o'clock the same day, at the Coffee-house, a meeting of the inhabitants to consult and agree upon a proper manner of signifying their thanks to the Captains of the London ships belonging to this port, and the merchants to whom they were addressed, for their patriotic conduct in refusing to take from the East-India Company, on freight, a quantity of tea, on which a duty laid by the British Parliament was made payable in America on importation.—Notwithstanding the shortness of the notice, many of the citizens met at the time and place appointed, when the following address was drawn up, read, and unanimously approved by the company present, viz.

"GENTLEMEN,

"Your prudent conduct in refusing the freight of the East-India Company's tea, justly merits the approbation and applause of every well-wisher to the liberties of this or any other country.

"The invidious purpose of levying the duty in America, and taking off a much greater in England, is equally manifest and detestable; being nothing less than to establish the odious precedent of raising a revenue in America. But it is a happiness to the inhabitants of this colony, and we trust to every other on this extensive continent, that Stamp Officers and Tea-Commissioners will be held in equal estimation.

"The tribute, therefore, of our most grateful thanks is most justly due, and is now hereby most heatily rendered to the truly patriotic merchants and masters of vessels in London, who by their virtuous example contributed so eminently to discountenance a measure which ought to be opposed by all good men, as contrary to every principle of British liberty, and therefore cannot but incur the just indignation and resentment of the much injured Americans."

By letters from London, and from good authority, we are assured that the East-India Company have determined upon sending three vessels with tea, one of them for Boston, another for Philadelphia, and the third for this port, and it is most confidently asserted, that no duty will be paid upon those teas in America. [A Fly to catch Gudgeons.]

Several writers in the Boston papers of the 14th instant, express the same sentiments of the tea expected from London, as the people of New-York and Philadelphia, whose conduct they highly approve, and strongly urge their countrymen to imitate. The masters of all their London vessels too, they expect, like those of New-York and Philadelphia, will refuse to bring any tea to America while the duty remains.

On Monday last arrived the ship Pearl, Capt. Tucker, in six weeks from Fort-William, in the Highlands of Scotland, with a great number of very respectable passengers full of health, and ready money to purchase every man his freehold. They are justly esteemed a great acquisition to this province, in some part of which they propopse to settle. There are in the whole above 280 souls, all of them, about a single score excepted, of the clan of McDonald, coming chiefly from fam'd Lochabar, and Glenmuir.

BOSTON, OCTOBER 25.

We learn from London, that the late intention of the East-India Company of sending bohea tea to the colonies, had created so much uneasiness and opposition among the merchants and others, trading to America, that it was uncertain whether any would be shipped hither on the account of it.

It is positively asserted, said to be from good authority, that barracks would be built, or the foundation for barracks laid on Fort Hill, before July next.

PHILADELPHIA, OCTOBER 27.

We hear that the General Assembly of the lower counties have appointed a Committee of the House to correspond with the Committees of the other Houses of Representatives on the Continent, to enquire into the nature, &c. of the new Court opened at Rhode-Island, for enquiring into the affair of the Gaspee Schooner, and to have a particular attention to all such acts of the British Parliament, as may in any wise affect America.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Boston, October 5, 1773.

"You may depend no tea, if it should arrive, will be landed here. The spirit of opposition to that measure is daily gaining strength, and will bring on a struggle, that, I trust, will have a prosperous issue."

NEWPORT, (Rhode-Island) NOVEMBER 1.

Last Wednesday the honourable the General Assembly of this colony met at South-Kingstown, and on Thursday a warrant was granted by the speaker of the house of deputies, for bringing Mr. George Rome before the house, on account of a certain letter, some time since returned from England, signed G. ROME; and Saturday afternoon, being brought before the house, and returning evasive answers to the questions put to him, the house deemed his conduct a contempt, and he was, in consequence thereof, committed to his Majesty's goal in South-Kingstown, where he remained until the house rose, which was between 8 and 9 o'clock in the evening of the same day.

We hear, that, in answer to a petition from the Massachusetts Assembly, respecting the appointment of judges, &c. his Majesty declared his intention of supporting the Supreme Authority, and Right of the British Parliament to make laws binding on the colonies; and expressed his great displeasure that principles repugnant to this right should be held forth in the petition.

BOSTON, NOVEMBER 1.

Capt. Scott was offered the tea intended to be sent here, as were several Captains of vessels for this port, but they all refused taking it on board.——It was not thought when he left London that the East-India Company would send any tea, fearing it would meet with a reception not at all to their advantage in America.

By a sooner, in about a week from Halifax, we learn, that his Excellency Francis Legge, Esq; lately appointed Governor of Nova Scotia, (in the room of Lord William Campbell) was arrived there from London, in the brig Adamant, Capt. Crowne: We are also told, that Lord Campbell, with his family, were soon to embark on board the above brig, on their return to England.

NEW-YORK, NOVEMBER 4.

Extract of a letter from St. George's Key, dated Honduras Bay, August 29, 1773.

"The day before yesterday arrived at this Key, the Garland man of war, in consequence of a petition from the inhabitants of this place to Admiral Rodney in Jamaica; she is to stay here until there is an end of the rebellion.

"The Garland, in her way hither, called at Port Omoa; at which place she spoke a register ship bound for Old Spain, who gave the following melancholly account, viz. That on the 29th of July last, the city of Guatimala was sunk by an earthquake, and upwards of 30,000 souls perished. It was but a few days before the Garland spoke the ship that she received the express to carry home. As this is the first vessel for America since we received the above news, we beg you will have it inserted in your news-papers."

PHILADELPHIA, NOVEMBER 10.

Extract of a letter from New-York, dated November 3.

"I have been this day informed by good authority, that the East India Company, suspecting that the words in the act,—discharged from the payment of any customs or duties whatever,—would extend to exempting their Tea, in such cases, from the American duty, have taken the opinion of the Attorney and Solicitor General, &c. and find that the American duty being only chargable on the tea, when imported into America, was, by no means, included in the duties, with which it is charged, when exported from England, or when sold at their ware-houses in London.

"This was a great disappointment to their hopes, as they suspected that the Americans would not buy it, even tho'they sent it to their very doors, on such terms. It is therefore affirmed, in several Letters from Gentlemen of credit in London, that Lord North has offered a gilding for the pill, by which we shall certainly find it very palatable, viz. He proposes that the Company shall send their tea to America, giving security for the payment of the duties, and that the teas are to be landed here, and the proper officers to return certificates of the quantity, &c. to England; on which the duties are to be paid there, by the Company, into the treasury, whence it is to be remitted, by an easy rotation, to the Commissioners of Boston, to be by them paid out to their creatures, who are to suck the blood of people, who are to drink this same undutied, and yet dutied, tea. It seems that the duty, in North-Carolina, has been paid for some years in this very manner nearly, viz. by draughts attending proper certificates sent to England, because it was found that cash was not to be obtained in that province, to pay the duties there.——Thus the duty is absolutely to be paid in America, for the purpose of raising a revenue, to support improper officers in America; only the method of negociating this business is a little different from the usual one, or from that originally proposed. Are the Americans such blockheads as to care whether it be a hot red poker, or a red hot poker, which they are to swallow, provided Lord North forces them to swallow one of the two. If the matter be duly explained, surely the people will unanimously agree to send the tea to the place, from whence it came, or to a worse place."

Charles-Town, November 12, 1773.

MR. TIMOTHY,

AS it is beyond dispute, that a Cabal has been formed in London, united with some who are obliged to this province for a great part of what they enjoy, to depreciate Carolina INDICO; so I made it a point, all the last summer, to defeat their ungenerous designs; and altho' I did not then fully succeed, I hope to do so, by the end of January next, if the planters pay a proper regard to my well-intended advice, which is,

Not to sell their Prime Indico, without the Inferior sort; and, if the purchasers should not be competent judges of either, to consult with those whose long experience has made them such.

Tho' appointed and sworn Appraiser of all Dyes and Drugs, the produce of His Majesty's colonies in North and South America, it does not become me, to give an opinion, or to garble and seal, for any gentlemen, but those to whom I am engaged, as in the list annexed. If they think fit to purchase, either for exportation, or to sell again here, they can (as they did the past year) furnish me with as much as I can well attend to from 9 o'clock in the morning 'till 2 in the afternoon; after which last hour I never do (or did in London) give my judgment of the quality or value of any Indico; for if I did, it would be impossible to do justice to my employers or self, nor should I merit that preference, with which some of the most eminent Salters, Dyers and Brokers in England have honoured my appraisement. I have therefore nothing further to offer upon this head.

But, as a diligent enquiry has lately been made, by a very able and accurate gentleman, now in London, whether and how far, I have promoted, and do continue to promote, the interests of this province there; and when the enquirer returns, I have reason to believe he will make a candid representation of my conduct to the General Assembly, in order to recommend my being allowed a handsome yearly salary, besides fees; lest that should be supposed the principal motive for my conduct, I think it necessary to make this public Declaration, that I have nothing so self-interested in view—that I can, and would, be perfectly content, with the possession and use of the house in which I now reside, and of five country-born negroes, during my natural life, afterwards to descend to such Native of the province, as the governor for the time being, upon the recommendation of the general assembly, might think proper to appoint Inspector-General of Indico, and to his and their successors, during life.

To obtain an establishment of this kind, I must confess, is a great and principal object of my views, next to that of establishing the reputation of Indico and other Dyes made in this country, beyond the possibility of being injured by the low arts of any mercenary designing Cabal whatsoever.

While it may please God, to permit the enjoyment of my sight, even with the inconsiderable life-annuity I am entitled to, I can be happy—with the provision above-mentioned, no man could be more so—but, should any accident befall me, thro' the infirmities of age or otherwise, I am persuaded it is not difficult, for you, or any of my friends, to conceive, how very wretched a Being would be Yours, &c. MOSES LINDO,

Inspector-General of Indico.

CHARLES-TOWN, NOVEMBER 22.

IT is confidently asserted, upon the Authority of some late Letters, That the Military Establishment, on this Continent, will shortly undergo a considerable Change; That there will be one Establishment for the Northern, and another for the Southern District, of His Majesty's Colonies: That the Head Quarters for the former, are to be as hitherto at New-York, where the Commander in Chief is to reside; and for the latter, in this Town, which is to be honoured with the Presence of a Brigadier General: And that all the Troops hereafter to be sent out, are to go to New-York, for the Northern Garisons, and to come here for the Southern. It is also said, That a Squadron of His Majesty's Ships will be stationed, for the Southern District, at Beaufort, Port-Royal, in this Province.

Notwithstanding the above Intelligence, the Inhabitants of this Province, do not seem disposed, to assist in the landing, or to receive cordially, the 300 CHESTS OF TEA, said to be shipped in the London, Capt. Curling, now hourly expected from England. On the Contrary, they express an earnest Wish, that all the Merchants in this Town, would endear themselves to the Rest of the People, by an immediate voluntary Agreement and Resolution, never to import a single Pound of Tea more, while that Act of the British Parliament continues of Force, which has laid a Duty thereon, to be paid in America, for the declared Purpose of raising a Revenue. They even begin to be alarmed, at the Prospect of the vast Revenue which may in a few Years accrue, from the Establishment of the General Post-Office, as not being a Tax imposed with their own Consent, notwithstanding any Glosses that may be put upon it.

NEW RICE is brought to Market very slowly, owing to the unfavourable Harvest Season, and some other Circumstances that have occurred; the Price therefore still is unsettled: Three Pounds and Ten Shillings continues to be demanded, and Three Pounds to be offered, per Hundred Pounds Weight.

The following is an exact Account of the Number of Tierces of Rice that have been shipped from this Port in each Month, from the 1st of November last Year, to the 1st Instant, viz.

In November,	4,268,	Quarterly,

By the Honourable WILLIAM BULL, Eſquire, Lieutenant-Governor and Commander in Chief, in and over the ſaid Province,

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, I have received Information, on the Oaths of ſundry Perſons, that the Murrain, which ſome Years ago raged with great Mortality amongſt the Neat Cattle in this Province, has lately appeared, particularly among ſundry Cattle which were driven from Ranges ſituated between Broad and Saludy Rivers, and Long Canes, which have been brought to Charles-Town; ſome whereof have been killed and brought to Market, and were ſeized and deſtroyed by the Commiſſioners of the Market, according to Law in that Caſe made and provided; and others remain near the Quarter-Houſe, daily dying thereof. AND WHEREAS, it is of great Conſequence to the Inhabitants of this Province, to prevent as much as poſſible, the ſpreading of that deſtructive Diſtemper, by driving them from one Part of the Province to another; as well as to caution Perſons from purchaſing ſuch Cattle, which will not only be loſt by the Diſtemper, but propagate the Diſtemper to the ſound Cattle: I DO therefore, by the Advice of his Majeſty's Council, publiſh this Proclamation, TO GIVE NOTICE of the ſaid Murrain; and I DO caution all Poſſeſſors of ſuch infected Cattle, againſt driving their Cattle from the infected Range, as by ſuch driving, they will ſpread the Infection without Benefit to themſelves, to the great Damage of thoſe through whoſe Herds of Cattle they paſs, for which they will be anſwerable. AND I recommend that every Precaution and Meaſure, which Experience or Prudence ſhall dictate, may be taken to prevent the ſpreading this EVIL.

GIVEN under my Hand, and the Great Seal of the the ſaid Province, this Thirteenth Day of November, 1773, and in the Fourteenth Year of His Majeſty's Reign.

The ALARM.

NUMBER I.

MY DEAR FELLOW CITIZENS,

THE chief end of all free government, is the protection of property,* from injuries within and without it. This is the equivalent for which the individuals of it make a surrender of part of their natural liberty. But if this is not secured, it would be more eligible to continue in a state of nature, to defend themselves, than to submit to the controul and tyranny of others. As every member of a free state is supposed to contribute to the internal support of it, and consequently to the national character and importance abroad; all the subjects have an equal right to participate of the common emoluments acquired by the state; whether it be by conquest or otherwise. A man in a state of nature, may, by the Laws of it, take as much of his enemy's property (small as it is) as shall be necessary to secure him against any future attacks; nor can it be denied but he may in that state, exchange his property with whom, and when soever he chooses. But when he enters into society, as he cannot act in a natural but political capacity; yet as he contributes by his labour, wisdom, or blood, to support the state at home, and its character, power, and acquisitions abroad, surely he is intitled to a subject's share of whatever the nation may acquire; especially as his enjoying such share cannot interfere with the interest or safety of the state. But if any man by his wisdom and industry invents new arts, or manufactures, or at his expence obtains commerce with a nation unknown and unfrequented by his country; he ought to have such an exclusive privilege in the arts or manufactures he invented, and the commerce he hath discovered and procured, as will not only indemnify him for the Expence he has been at, but compensate for the risque he run, if his labour, and adventure had proved abortive. Such a privilege is advancive of the interest of a free trading state; but monopoly, beyond this, is manifestly injurious to the community, and subversive of the rights of individuals. The friends of liberty and equal commerce have always considered any other monopoly, dangerous and inimical to the genius of our much envied constitution. Multiplied and unnecessary monopolies were among the black catalogue of grievances and apprehensions complained of, and so long borne by the people of England in the Stuart reign. Happy had it been for that kingdom, and this distressed Country, if the Effects of those grievances had ended with their tyranny. What the people then had in apprehension, we feel by sad experience. It was easy then to predict, that the East-India Company would some day or other have a baneful influence on the politicks and constitution of that nation. Incorporated by Queen Elizabeth, favoured by her successors of the Stuart line, who were always necessitous, and sold the royal munificence to them for immense and repeated bribes; they acquired such immense wealth at the Expence of the nation, that the House of Commons, considering the exclusive trade of the company as a public grievance, in 1691 and 1792 addressed King William the Third to dissolve the Company. † Had this been done, when they had profited more by their trade than amply compensated for their expence and risque, the nation would not have felt the dire effects of their ill got wealth, which will be seen in the sequel. But as they found the efficacy of the mammon of unrighteousness on several Sovereigns, in procuring the undue Continuance of their monopoly, they applied the same power in 1694-5 with success, to some of the leading members of the same Commons, in order to extinguish the fire that was kindled against them in that House. For by Rapin's history of England, it appears, that the Committee of the Commons for "inspecting the East-India Company's books, found that there were entries made of large sums given for secret services done the Company, that amounted to one hundred and seventy thousand pounds; and it was generally believed, that the greatest part of it had gone among the members of the House of Commons; for the two preceding Winters, there had been attempts eagerly pursued by some, for breaking the Company, and either opening a free trade to the Indies, or at least erecting a new Company. But it was observed that some of the hottest sticklers against the Company, did insensibly fall off from that heat, but turned to serve the Company as much as they had at first endeavoured to destroy it." Great pains and art were used to stifle the enquiry, but Sir Thomas Cooke, a rich merchant, who was Governor of the Company, was examined concerning that great sum given for secret services; but he refused to answer. A severe bill was brought in against him, in case he should not by a prefixed day, confess how all that money had been disposed of. When the bill was sent up to the Lords and was like to pass, he came in and offered to make a full discovery, if he might be indemnified for all that he had done, or might say in the matter. Many other discoveries were made of persons who had received part of this and other immense bribes from the Company, too numerous to be mentioned; but the enquiry was stopped by common consent, and never revived. Notwithstanding this, the Company did not get all that they aimed at, which was a confirmation of their charter by act of Parliament. The Commons were too sensible that if this was granted, they had no more favours to give; and then could not hope for the continuance of that bribery they had so long and in great abundance experienced. A number of merchants, in 1698, viewing with envy the lucrative exclusion that Company had to the India trade, applied to Parliament for a law to incorporate them into a new Company; and offered the Government a loan of two millions upon the security of a good fund, to pay the interest at eight per cent. on condition, that the trade to India might be settled on the subscribers, exclusive of all others. A law was accordingly passed to incorporate them into a new Company, agreeable to these proposals. As the old East-India Company offered the like loan to the Government for that exclusion, there can be no doubt but the new Company applied more of the powerful and unrighteous mammon to the Senators than the first, which procured the second the preference. The two Companies indefatigably laboured, without saving appearances, to destroy by bribery each other's interest in the House of Commons. And,

Upon the election of a new Parliament, the Company openly purchased the votes of the boroughs for blank candidates; and were the first who publicly began that infamous practice, in order to prevent if possible, the incorporation of the old Company, by act of Parliament; while these exerted their whole force in bribing the members to procure it. After a long combat with with these weapons, Victory continuing still in suspence, and the Commons having exhausted a great part of both their strength, both Companies were united in 1703. The curious will see the transactions relative to those Companies, more at length in Rapin's history of England, from 1691 to 1703. The influence this exclusive privilege, or rather public robbery, has had on the constitution and commerce of the mother country, and these colonies, shall be the subject of the subsequent papers.

* Property is here used in the large sense in which Mr. Locke uses it, as comprehending life, liberty, and estate.
